Official Journal of the American Psychiatric Association

Edited by Robert Freedman, M.D.

- The American Journal of Psychiatry has an impact factor of 12.759, a rise from last year's 12.522 and 2-point rise from the previous year's 10.545, according to the recently released 2010 Journal Citation Reports® (Thomson Reuters, 2011), placing it 2nd among the 126 journals in psychiatry journals indexed, while still remaining the far-and-away leader in total citations.

- The American Journal of Psychiatry (AJP) is also the #2 journal in psychiatry in terms of immediacy according to Thomson Scientific's Immediacy Index. This important performance metric is calculated by dividing the number of citations to articles published in a given year by the number of articles published in that year.

- The Immediacy Index is a good measure of how quickly a given journal's articles are cited—AJP's #2 placement is a result of publishing articles that are relevant, covering current “hot” topics and cutting-edge research, and getting these findings to the field faster with AJP in Advance, the Journal's online-ahead-of-print publication protocol.

- A recent poll conducted by the BioMedical & Life Sciences Division of The Special Libraries Association identified the 100 most influential journals in all of Biology & Medicine over the last 100 years. The American Journal of Psychiatry was among those honored, the only psychiatry/psychology journal represented.

No other psychiatric journal reaches more psychiatrists with greater impact or immediacy than the journal that the overwhelming majority of psychiatrists considers essential: AJP.

In This Issue

The education of medical students is one of the many duties assigned to residents as part of their professional training. Thus, The Residents' Journal is committed to providing opportunities for medical students to develop skills that will benefit them in their own future training. This issue features three articles authored by medical students. Matthew E. Hirschtritt, a second-year student, is the lead author of an article on the treatment of pediatric bipolar disorder. Michele Retouvey, a fourth-year student, discusses axis I comorbidities of borderline personality disorder. Finally, Kedar Kirtane and Jennifer Sbicca, both fourth-year students, present a case report on the ethics surrounding medical abandonment in a rehabilitation setting.

Brief companion exams are created for three of the most influential articles from each issue. By reading the articles and completing the online exams, you can test your knowledge and earn up to 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit[™] per article. Correct answers are highlighted for your reference upon completion of the course. A link from the question to the correct answer in context will also be highlighted in the associated article, thus extending the learning experience.

CME credit is only provided online, and a subscription to the AJP CME program is required. From the moment you subscribe to the AJP CME program, you will be able to select from 72 courses from among 40 possible subject areas. You'll also be able to access the next 33 courses as they become available. For more information and pricing, please go to <http://cme.psychiatryonline.org/misc/aboutajpcme.shtml>

This activity is sponsored by the American Psychiatric Association. The American Psychiatric Association is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians. The American Psychiatric Association designates each educational activity for a maximum of 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit[™]. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Cover picture

Everything is Real Except God and Death (2010) (180 × 120 cm, oil on canvas). George Harding (b. 1983)

The artist writes: 'I used to get art lessons when I was a small boy from a next-door neighbour who inspired me, and art has been my passion ever since.'

'I did my foundation at Camberwell and graduated from Chelsea College of Art and Design in fine art in 2007. I now have a studio in Southwark, London, where I work and live.'

'Art to me is emotive and is a way of coping with life and my mental illness. It is also something that guides me, something that I can rely upon and excel in.'

'The painting is explained by its title. The image speaks of the delusions, paranoia and imaginary beliefs that envelop a person when smoking cannabis. The image came together by making a collage of specific symbols and signs, which was then altered through painting. The figure featured in the work is after Henry Wallis's painting in 1856 called The Death of Chatterton, a poet.'

'If you would like to know more about my work, please contact me through my website (www.georgejharding.co.uk).'

With thanks to the artist, and to Beth Elliott, the Bethlem Gallery, London (www.bethlemgallery.com).

We are always looking for interesting and visually appealing images for the cover of the Journal and would welcome suggestions or pictures, which should be sent to Dr Allan Beveridge, British Journal of Psychiatry, 17 Belgrave Square, London SW1X 8PG, UK or bjp@rcpsych.ac.uk.
