The American Journal of PSYCHIATRY

Latest
IMPACT
FACTOR
12.759!

Official Journal of the American Psychiatric Association

Edited by Robert Freedman, M.D.

- The American Journal of Psychiatry has an impact factor of 12.759, a rise from last year's 12.522 and 2-point rise from the previous year's 10.545, according to the recently released 2010 Journal Citation Reports® (Thomson Reuters, 2011), placing it 2nd among the 126 journals in psychiatry journals indexed, while still remaining the far-and-away leader in total citations.

- The American Journal of Psychiatry (AJP) is also the #2 journal in psychiatry in terms of immediacy according to Thomson Scientific's Immediacy Index. This important performance metric is calculated by dividing the number of citations to articles published in a given year by the number of articles published in that year.

- The Immediacy Index is a good measure of how quickly a given journal's articles are cited—AJP's #2 placement is a result of publishing articles that are relevant, covering current “hot” topics and cutting-edge research, and getting these findings to the field faster with AJP in Advance, the Journal's online-ahead-of-print publication protocol.

- A recent poll conducted by the BioMedical & Life Sciences Division of The Special Libraries Association identified the 100 most influential journals in all of Biology & Medicine over the last 100 years. The American Journal of Psychiatry was among those honored, the only psychiatry/psychology journal represented.

No other psychiatric journal reaches more psychiatrists with greater impact or immediacy than the journal that the overwhelming majority of psychiatrists considers essential: AJP.

Cover picture

Health Screen (2012)
David Shillinglaw (b. 1982)

Health Screen is a hand-painted illustration for MedFest 2012 by London-based artist David Shillinglaw. Influenced by contemporary anatomical drawings and ancient Egyptian hieroglyphs, the work is a playful attempt to capture the broad spectrum of issues running throughout the medical film festival.

Shillinglaw graduated from Central Saint Martins in 2002 and has exhibited in galleries in Japan, China, The Netherlands, and cities such as New York, London, Berlin and Istanbul. His work moves between street and studio, from small hand-made books to paintings on canvas and large-scale wall murals. He observes: 'Life is a struggle. For everyone: from the smallest insect to the greatest beast, we are determined by the success we seek, and how, in turn we measure that success. Each of us experiencing ups and downs. Peaks and troughs. Like a game of snakes and ladders.'

MedFest is the first ever national medical film festival, and this year's theme was: 'HealthScreen: Understanding illness through Film. The remit of MedFest 2012 was to provoke debate about the social, political and ethical implications of depictions of health and illness on our screens.

For more information on the artist please visit www.davidshillinglaw.co.uk, or MedFest at www.medfest.co.uk.

We are always looking for interesting and visually appealing images for the cover of the Journal and would welcome suggestions or pictures, which should be sent to Dr Allan Beveridge, British Journal of Psychiatry, 17 Belgrave Square, London SW1X 8PG, UK or bjp@rpsych.ac.uk.
