

We've Got You Covered

American Psychiatric Association Endorsed Professional Liability Insurance Program

Designed for Psychiatrists in all practice settings

DID YOU KNOW? We find that our policyholders are more likely to receive a board complaint than be named in a claim or lawsuit.

Most insurance policies provided by employers do not include reimbursement for costs incurred to defend a complaint (or have limits that may be shared with others).

Not to worry... we include up to $50,000 of defense reimbursement – with the option to increase this limit to $150,000.

What's more, coverage for Telepsychiatry is provided, subject to the terms and conditions of the policy.

Cyber Coverage is available as an endorsement at renewal or on a new American Professional Agency policy. Available in most states on an admitted basis.

(All discounts, coverage features and rating are subject to individual state approval.)

The American Journal of Psychotherapy

APA's journal of psychotherapy practice and research

Since 1947, the American Journal of Psychotherapy has provided a forum for advancing the theory, science, and clinical practice of psychotherapy, publishing articles that expand understanding of psychotherapies, especially in the domains of efficacy, process, education, and practice. The journal provides authors and readers the opportunity to engage fully in pressing psychotherapy issues such as defining core elements of psychotherapies, dissemination of evidence-based practices, scaling best practices for expansion to larger populations, understanding mechanisms of change, and evaluating best practices for psychotherapy training and supervision. From its new home as part of APA Publishing's portfolio of journals, the American Journal of Psychotherapy is the ideal vehicle to disseminate knowledge about psychotherapy and send a message that psychotherapy remains firmly within the purview of psychiatry.

A Psychiatrist's Guide to Advocacy

NEW!

Edited by Mary C. Vance, M.D.,
Katherine G. Kennedy, M.D.,
Ilse R. Wiechers, M.D., M.P.P., M.H.S., and Saul Levin, M.D., M.P.A.

This is both a scholarly text and a handbook—a uniquely inspiring work that considers health advocacy as the public voicing of support for causes, policies, or opinions that advance patient and population health. Since the American Medical Association's 2001 adoption of the "Declaration of Professional Responsibility: Medicine's Social Contract with Humanity," the concept of advocacy as a professional duty has gradually become more accepted. Advocacy can, and does, take many forms, from lobbying the legislature for mental health parity to calling an insurer repeatedly for authorization of health care coverage that has been unfairly denied to a patient, to pointing out discriminatory practices in medical settings against individuals with mental health diagnoses. The many arenas of advocacy and its diverse beneficiaries are addressed in depth in this engaging book.

The American Psychiatric Association Publishing Textbook of Substance Use Disorder Treatment, Sixth Edition

Edited by Kathleen T. Brady, M.D., Ph.D., Frances R. Levin, M.D.,
Marc Galanter, M.D., and Herbert D. Kleber, M.D.

JUST PUBLISHED!

A robust revision, including many entirely new chapters addressing policy, the latest treatment approaches, and special topics, the Sixth Edition of The APA Publishing Textbook of Substance Use Disorder Treatment offers a comprehensive and compelling review of this ever-evolving field. New sections address important topics that have gained prominence or become the focus of increased research attention since the Fifth Edition was released. For example, substance use and other psychiatric disorders often co-occur, and the resulting dual disorder is frequently associated with greater symptom severity and worse long-term prognosis than either disorder alone. Accordingly, the section on psychiatric comorbidity covers the epidemiology, assessment, and treatment of substance use disorders (SUDs) that co-occur with psychotic, mood, anxiety, eating, attention-deficit/hyperactivity, or trauma-related disorders.

The section devoted to special populations has been revamped, and the topics have been thoroughly updated, some now covered by new contributors and others completely new to this edition. SUDs among women (including perinatal issues), adolescents, patients with chronic pain, sexual and gender minority populations, and older adults are addressed in detailed chapters, as are behavioral addictive disorders and cross-cultural aspects of substance-related and addictive disorders.

Finally, the editors have included a section devoted to critically important topics in public health, including the U.S. opioid epidemic, cannabis policy and use, HIV/AIDS and hepatitis C, nicotine and public health, and the prevention of SUDs.

Evidence-based, down to earth, and meticulously edited, the new Sixth Edition of The APA Publishing Textbook of Substance Use Disorder Treatment is an essential resource for clinicians who treat SUDs in a variety of settings—from examining rooms to emergency departments, and from hospitals to recovery facilities.

Reward Processing in Children With Disruptive Behavior Disorders and Callous-Unemotional Traits in the ABCD Study fMRI in more than 1,500 school-aged children showed evidence that disruptive behavior disorder is characterized by decreased neural sensitivity of proactive cognitive control regions during reward anticipation, coupled with increased sensitivity of salience network and reward regions during reward receipt. This neural profile provides further insight into the core behavioral features associated with disruptive behavior disorders, such as aggression and impulsivity.

50 Years Ago This Month: Routine Diagnosis by Computer

Decades before AI became all the rage, this report described a clinical computer program that used data collected by clerks, technicians, relatives, and staff to build a database from which computer-generated probability statements regarding diagnostic classifications augmented by statistical techniques helped predict length of hospital stay, risk of running away, and assaultive ideation.
