The American Journal of Psychotherapy

APA's journal of psychotherapy practice and research

Since 1947, the American Journal of Psychotherapy has provided a forum for advancing the theory, science, and clinical practice of psychotherapy, publishing articles that expand understanding of psychotherapies, especially in the domains of efficacy, process, education, and practice. The journal provides authors and readers the opportunity to engage fully in pressing psychotherapy issues such as defining core elements of psychotherapies, dissemination of evidence-based practices, scaling best practices for expansion to larger populations, understanding mechanisms of change, and evaluating best practices for psychotherapy training and supervision. From its new home as part of APA Publishing's portfolio of journals, the American Journal of Psychotherapy is the ideal vehicle to disseminate knowledge about psychotherapy and send a message that psychotherapy remains firmly within the purview of psychiatry.

We've Got You Covered

American Psychiatric Association Endorsed Professional Liability Insurance Program

Designed for Psychiatrists in all practice settings

DID YOU KNOW? We find that our policyholders are more likely to receive a board complaint than be named in a claim or lawsuit.

Most insurance policies provided by employers do not include reimbursement for costs incurred to defend a complaint (or have limits that may be shared with others).

Not to worry... we include up to $50,000 of defense reimbursement – with the option to increase this limit to $150,000.

What's more, coverage for Telepsychiatry is provided, subject to the terms and conditions of the policy.

Cyber Coverage is available as an endorsement at renewal or on a new American Professional Agency policy. Available in most states on an admitted basis.

(All discounts, coverage features and rating are subject to individual state approval.)

Visit us at apamalpractice.com or call 877-740-1777 to learn more.

Dive Deeper With AJP Audio

Each episode of the AJP Audio podcast brings you an in-depth look at one of the articles featured in that month's issue of The American Journal of Psychiatry. Wide-ranging interviews with article authors cover the background, rationale, main findings, and future implications of the research.

- March 2021: Psychiatry Diversity Leadership in Academic Medicine

Lead author Ayana Jordan, M.D., Ph.D., and senior author Christina Mangurian, M.D., M.A.S., go more in depth on their article, what led to it, and what comes next.

- April 2021: Reducing Adolescent Psychopathology in Socioeconomically Disadvantaged Children

Karen L. Bierman, Ph.D., discusses how enriching Head Start programs with an evidence-based social-emotional learning program substantially improved subsequent adolescent emotional and behavioral health outcomes

75 years ago this month: Problems Confronting Psychiatry in the Army Convalescent Hospital

Brigadier General William C. Menninger, co-founder of the clinic that bears the family name, discusses a presentation by a member of the Operations Service of the Surgeon General's Office that outlined the neuropsychiatric problems of the Army (and which appeared in the same issue). Menninger outlines how these problems the Army faced at war's onset were addressed over the course of the conflict, concluding "we in psychiatry have had a closer, happier relationship with all other specialties of medicine than in any situation in civilian life. There is not a general medical officer in the Army who has not had more exposure to psychiatric problems in his Army career than he did in all the rest of his medical career put together. We only hope that he and his future patients will profit from it."
